

Life is all about transitions, like graduation, starting a family, changing jobs, moving to a new home, raising a family, and eventually, retirement. While many of us successfully negotiate these transitions, retirement often poses the greatest challenge.

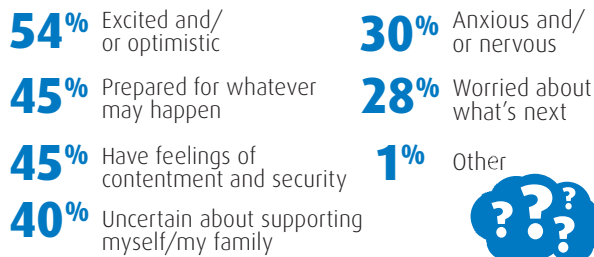

Attitudes or mindsets most likely found in satisfied retirees

Attributes that help retirees transition into retirement

Feelings about the life-stage of retirement

What do men and women plan to do in retirement?

